

Minority Leadership & Women's Leadership Training Recap

December 7-9, San Diego, CA

SWEA provides its members with incredible learning opportunities - like this recent conference. Join us next time and hear what the attendees have to share:

"I was able to learn from current educators what they face in the classroom every day and the creative ways they are advocating for all of their students. I also had the opportunity of learning from my fellow family of Aspiring Educators. The training gave me a space to reflect on my leadership practices and learn new ways to improve as a leader in my future classroom, district and serving SWEA as a state leader.

- Brandy Alley, Western Washington University

"The training allowed me to look deeply at the common practices used in the classroom today, and how they meet the needs or fall short, of all students and communities. As an Aspiring Educator, it was a great opportunity to work along my peers as well as Active Educators of all levels to discuss how we can do better in practical ways."

- Taylor Davila, Western Governors University

National Education Association Aspiring Educators group photo

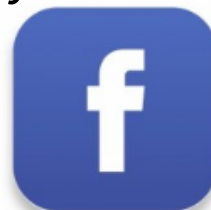

L to R: Brandy Alley - SWEA Chair, Price Jimerson - SWEA Vice-Chair, Taylor Davila - SWEA PAC Chair

"I was able to attend MWLT in San Diego this past weekend, I was glad to be able to attend for a second year and with this years change in format allowed for a greater experience. Being able to work with a small group on a project built bonds I did not think I could have in such a short time. Being able to attend the Black Caucus Meeting and see how many black educators are wanting and willing to help Aspiring Educators such as myself was very welcoming. I hope that I get to attend this leadership training again, as it showed where we are, and where we can improve."

- Price Jimerson, Eastern Washington University

Stay Connected

Upcoming Events:

Look for applications in January to attend Washington State Representative Assembly in April 2019. Learn more here:

<https://www.washingtonea.org/we-are-wea/ra/>

@Studentwashingtonea Student Washington Education Association - SWEA studentwashingtonea@gmail.com