Newbie Nights

A professional development series for newer teachers

Do you wake up in the middle of the night worried about how to engage that reluctant learner or handle a difficult parent? Do you often wonder if you'll ever not be so tired? Or how on earth you are ever supposed to get everything done with the limited amount of time in the day? Then this series of professional development opportunities is just for you.

LWEA is sponsoring 5 evening sessions designed specifically for teachers with 6 or fewer years of teaching experience.

We'll provide you with hospitality, dinner, and an opportunity to hear from experts on various topics as they share strategies for surviving your first few years in the classroom.

Please join us in connecting and collaborating with others new to the profession. Find out how LWEA, WEA, and NEA can help support you in your profession.

Classroom Management: Why Don't My Students Do What I Tell Them?

Having problems getting your students to follow directions? Listen attentively? Do their class work/home work? Participate in discussions and activities? Acknowledge that you exist?!! You aren't alone. Our panel of experienced teachers will share their tips and tricks on reaching and involving all your students.

We are working on exciting topics for our future sessions. Look for more about these sessions and other professional development opportunities in the Update (the weekly LWEA newsletter) and on the LWEA website (lakewashingtonea.org).
